SDG5 Report : Gender Equality

Introduction

Morocco has a Strategic Action Plan for the Institutionalization of gender equality in the education system. Respect for fundamental human rights, including equality, as defined by UN standards, is binding not only on the State (article 19 of the Moroccan Constitution of 2011) but also to all organs of society including the university.

Definition of gender equality at the UEMF: equal visibility, autonomy, responsibility and participation of both sexes in/in all spheres of university life” (Adaptation of the Council of Europe Definition) .

UEMF Gender Equality Charter

The University has a Gender Equality charter shared and validated by its authorities. https://ueuromed.org/sites/default/files/upload/files/charte-egalite-homme-femme-a-luemf\_1.pdf

UEMF commitments:

Gender equality finds its place in the strategic plan of the UEMF university, which promotes equal treatment between women and men in terms of access to employment, training and mobility. , promotion and equal pay. The UEMF aims to achieve parity (equal numerical presence of men and women) and prohibits all discrimination linked to gender, ethnic and social origins, language, religion or beliefs, opinions, disability, age, etc.

Our Charter aims to develop an action plan:

1. Appoint a reference person
2. Use non-sexist, non-discriminatory, non-stereotyped communication tools
3. Organize awareness-raising and training activities with a view to sharing the knowledge and tools necessary to effectively promote equality between women and men and combat discrimination among staff
4. Support research on gender
5. Prevent all forms of violence and harassment.
6. Develop women's leadership and promote equality in the exercise of responsibilities and participation in governance bodies.

The “Women and Men Equality” charter is widely distributed within the UEMF and among its partners. This charter is revised periodically.

UEMF gender policy

The University has set itself the objective of:

has. achieve and maintain parity in numbers between men and women, using positive discrimination in the event of equality of profiles and skills,

b. ensure the same salary for the same functions between men and women, c. promote gender parity in access to senior positions at the University,

d. include as many people as possible with reduced abilities,

e. include people with immigrant backgrounds;

Scholarships dedicated to:

has. students from the most disadvantaged backgrounds, particularly girls from rural areas, with full coverage of tuition fees, accommodation costs and catering costs,

b. students from Sub-Saharan Africa

Monitoring and correction of gaps: salaries, rate of female applications:

has. an “Equal Opportunities” committee is set up at the level of the University Presidency to make continuous improvements regarding the Equal Opportunities policy, implement it and monitor and audit its application,

b. the UEMF constantly monitors the application rate of women, their acceptance and recruitment rate and the rate of study completion and graduation at university,

vs. an incentive system in terms of scholarships is put in place to encourage applications from women in fields where they are under-represented (artificial intelligence, mechanics, civil engineering, management positions, etc.) in addition to a policy based on discrimination positive to give more opportunities to women in the event of equality of profiles and potential,

d. The UEMF is committed to ensuring equitable salary treatment between the sexes and to correcting any discrepancy as soon as it is noted.

Maternity and paternity

In accordance with its strategy and its social and societal responsibility objectives, the UEMF ensures the health and well-being of its human resources, particularly during the period of pregnancy and maternity/paternity with the most favorable conditions on the market. Moroccan soil.

Indeed, and unlike what is practiced elsewhere where the 14-week maternity leave is covered by the CNSS (the National Social Security Fund) with a maximum payment of 6,000 Dh/month, Euromed University de Fez pays the full salary to its employees throughout the maternity leave period, regardless of the employee's rank within the University's organizational chart.

Constant monitoring of good working conditions for pregnant women is ensured, and personalized monitoring is carried out by the paramedical staff and the health and safety committee as appropriate. All employees benefit from additional health/maternity insurance which ensures reimbursement of 90% of medical costs and care incurred in the context of maternity, in addition to the granting of a fixed maternity allowance after childbirth for women employees of the UEMF and the wives of employees.

As part of its Fez-Smart-Factory project, the University is setting up a crèche dedicated to the children of all University employees and students.

Non-discrimination against women and harassment

Discrimination against women or even moral or sexual harassment are severely punished. Discrimination of any kind, especially against women, is banned from the practices and operations of the University. Any person is liable to permanent exclusion from the University with the possibility of legal action:

1. making derogatory remarks towards women regarding:

- has. physical aspect,
- b. the style of clothing,
- vs. the way of being, speaking and behaving;

2. disadvantaging women in:

- has. the exercise of their functions,
- b. access to responsibilities when they have the required qualifications and skills,
- vs. staff evaluations, d. awarding grades and academic assessments for female students;

3. Any person reporting discrimination relating to any harm is fully protected

The UEMF has a Committee to combat harassment.

Participation in international networks: Women and Men Equality Consortium (EFH)

The UEMF was selected following an international call for tenders to be a member of the international consortium of eleven French-speaking establishments which will work to achieve gender equality on their campuses. The aim of the consortium is to “Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls”.

<https://www.auf.org/nouvelles/actualites/universites-francophones-sengage-lauf-egalite-femmes-hommes-lancement-officiel-consortium-international-initie-lauf-soutien-d/>

THE Consortium is a space for reflection and sharing centered on the notion of sharing tools and good practices. The establishments of the Consortium commit together, through concrete actions, in order to achieve visible and measurable changes concerning EFH on their campus and at several levels (students, teachers, governors). The Consortium is supported and equipped by the AUF and its partners, and operates as a network.

It consists of 11 establishments, in 11 countries in various regions of the world and on 4 continents:

- Albania – University of Tirana
- Algeria – Abdelhamid Ibn Badis University of Mostaganem
- Cambodia – Royal University of Law and Economic Sciences
- Egypt – Alexandria University
- France – CY Cergy Paris University
- Haiti – Quisqueya University
- Lebanon – Lebanese University
- Madagascar – University of Toamasina
- Morocco – Euromed University Fez
- Uganda – Makerere University Business School
- Quebec, Canada – Polytechnique Montréal

As part of the activities and achievements which have marked the roadmap of the EFH Consortium in which the UEMF participates, since the official launch event on June 29, 2021, here are the major achievements in this direction:

- State of play of the EFH in the eleven member universities;
- Awareness sessions and training on EFH with the support of experts;
- Information and working sessions around tools created by international associations: UN Women - HeForShe and WEPs (Women's Empowerment Principles) adapted to the university environment;
- Information session on the systems of the AUF and its partners linked to EFH;

- Workshops for the design, writing and presentation of the draft EFH action plan for each university;
- Participation in various international webinars on the theme of EFH;
- Creation of an accessible “SDG5 – gender equality” toolbox made up of French-speaking resources.
- Production of a video of the members of the consortium on the occasion of March 8, 2022

Contribution to the work of the EFH consortium

Using digital technology to empower women, Professor Mustapha Bennouna (UEMF)

Digital development is a means of access to employment and economic independence, and therefore a driver of gender equality. It is a path to autonomy favored by modern communication tools and has become necessary to drive local and regional development. Digital technologies, used in the right conditions, can contribute to achieving the objectives set in the Sustainable Development Goals by 2030 by stimulating economic growth and improving governance and results, particularly in the areas of education (SDG4) and health (SDG3). However, these positive impacts may also be compromised by the potential role of digital technology in amplifying social, economic and political inequalities.

The main challenges in the ICT field, particularly in developing countries, are lack of access and skills (especially of vulnerable populations), online harassment often targeting women and the underrepresentation of women in IT fields. In the field of Artificial Intelligence (AI), for example, the absence of women results in automated discrimination via algorithms.

The involvement of women in these areas is an asset to enrich innovation and meet their specific needs.

As a training space, but also as an actor in a sustainable and inclusive society, the role of the University is to impose digital technologies as a EFH tool by adapting them to the needs of women.

The functioning of the consortium is collaborative and participatory, and focused on notions of sharing and pooling. The work will take place over one year, from June 2021 to June 2022.

Training is scheduled with:

- The Egaé group: consulting, training and communication agency expert in equality between women and men, the fight against discrimination, diversity and the prevention of sexist and sexual violence.
- He for She( <https://www.heforshe.org/en>) is a solidarity campaign for gender equality launched by the UN Women. Its goal is to involve men and boys in the fight for gender equality and the women's rights, encouraging them to take action against inequality encountered by women and men.

Furthermore, the UEMF submitted a project in response to the call for tenders (Europe Aid) on violence against women. And participates in the South South mobility program (Equality for Women and Men).

International Women's Day

March 8, 2022

For this international women's rights day, the Euromed University of Fez, in the person of Mr. President Prof. Mostapha Bousmina, welcomes the laudable efforts that the University is undertaking in this direction to ensure that all female students and employees a healthy environment where equality and kindness prevail. Prof. Mostapha Bousmina took this opportunity to highlight the contribution and commitment of UEMF women to the progress of the university. Thanks to their ambition and dedication, they now occupy key positions that shape society: they are leaders, influential women and proactive.

Euromed University of Fez celebrates International Women's Rights Day

March 8, 2023

The Euromed University of Fez, like every year, celebrates UEMFist women who inspire us with their ambition, creativity, dedication and strength.

The opportunity to recall the contribution and commitment of UEMF women to the progress of the university and also to celebrate the values of respect for individuals, equal opportunities and social inclusion.

In this sense, the UEMF works concretely on the promotion of gender equality at several levels in perfect harmony with the enlightened directions of His Majesty King Mohammed VI, may God help him, who underlined, during his speech on the 23rd anniversary of Throne Day, the major role that Moroccan women must play to support the socio-economic, cultural and social development of our country.

Celebration of March 8, 2023 by the clubs

On the occasion of International Women's Rights Day, several clubs and students were active in organizing various activities. Several competitions were at the meeting, including chess tournament, bridge building challenge, gaming, coding, sports activities. The day was animated by a karate demonstration and entertainment from the Afrovibes club. The university also celebrated its women with the meeting of our student Madame Ornella Lekongo for the release of her first book. Those present had the opportunity to chat with her about her journey, her inspirations and her passion for writing. The end of the day was marked by a thematic film screening and the presentation of prizes to the winning women.

Activities and events organized between 2022 and 2023

Conference on the theme “Gender inequality and economic violence”

The Socioeconomic Impact Project (PISE) is a module that draws on the Project-Based Learning (PBL) approach to encourage students to explore real-world problems and challenges in an active learning mode and committed. In this regard, all of the PISEs (14 projects) carried out by students of the Grande Ecole program, 3rd year of the Euromed Business School, are part of the Women's Men's Equality Action Plan (EFH) of the UEMF.

As part of these Socioeconomic Impact Projects (PISE), a conference under the theme “Gender inequality and economic violence” was organized on Monday, December 19, within the university. This event was led by Mr Amine Baha director of the Batha multifunctional center for the empowerment of women victims of violence and Ms Amsae El Mehdi president of the Initiative Association for the Protection of Women's Rights (IPDF).

The conference saw the participation of more than 70 people (students, faculty and administration) in hybrid mode.

The UEMF commits with the AUF for gender equality March 17, 2023

After the official launch of the international consortium of eleven French-speaking establishments working to achieve gender equality in June 2021, Euromed University of Fez presents at the experience sharing workshop organized by the University Agency of the Francophonie.

The event which took place this Friday, March 17, 2023, in Paris was marked by the launch of the workshop summarizing the work of the French-speaking Consortium for Gender Equality on campus. This meeting aimed at developing an action plan for gender equality made it possible to present the achievements of the Consortium at the end of its two years of activity, but also its prospects, under the sign of international cooperation .

Considering that gender equality is not only a fundamental human right, but that it is also a prerequisite for the establishment of a sustainable and socially responsible university, the AUF decided to launch with the support from UN Women a call for applications on March 8, 2021 for the creation of a consortium of establishments wishing to engage in an equality process on their campuses.

Eleven establishments were selected to join this international collective. The ambition of this Consortium is to provide effective and operational support to establishments wishing to engage in this approach with a view to acting on the persistent inequalities which do not spare our universities.

“Violence against women”: conference by Ms. Najat Vallaud Belkacem December 21, 2022

During her 3rd conference at Euromed University in Fez, Ms. Najat Vallaud-Belkacem raised the issue of violence perpetrated against women, a phenomenon which persists today despite efforts made in this direction.

“Violence against women is today considered among the most flagrant and widespread human rights violations throughout the world,” declared Ms. Najat Vallaud-Belkacem. The objective of this conference is therefore to recall the seriousness of this phenomenon capable of causing damage or suffering of a physical, sexual, psychological or economic nature to the victim, of course, but also to society. It is a constant fight and a permanent commitment that Ms. Najat Vallaud-Belkacem has led since her appointment as Minister of Women’s Rights, government spokesperson in 2012, then Minister of Women’s Rights, the City, Youth and Sports in 2014.

Prof. Mostapha Bousmina, President of the Euromed University of Fez, took this opportunity to recall the importance of combating all kinds of inequality and particularly cultural violence against women. “Violence against women is not only physical, psychological or economic, it is primarily cultural violence. » expressed Prof. Mustapha Bousmina who also highlighted the contribution and commitment of women at the UEMF level. Thanks to their skills and dedication, they now occupy key positions, they are leaders, influential women and proactive.
